

Co. 24 BBQ

A "Thank You" BBQ dinner was held on Tuesday, September 13th at the Community Center for all the volunteers who helped with this year's Forest Ranch Fire Co.#24 Annual Fundraiser. A check for $8,691.29 was presented to Fire Captain Sam Daugherty representing the total amount raised at the event. Although the BBQ attendance was down by 20% over last year, the funds raised will help to offset the annual maintenance and upkeep on the Fire Station, their training and equipment. Many thanks to all who supported this event through their donations and hard work;

- Forest Ranch Lions Club

- Marlene Fune, Auctioneer
- DJ John Hague, our favorite DJ

Dear Friends & Neighbors,

Since we are no longer putting the Post in every mail box (due to the increased costs) we have experienced a dramatic reduction in dues from Forest Ranch residents. The dues have been instrumental in helping keep our center functioning...so please, if you haven't paid your dues, please pick up a membership application (in the plastic folder at the Post Office) and mail it in.

Dates to mark on your calendar: November 5th: Cornhole Tournament...check P.O. bulletin board for details. Mishka Nobel, our FRCA President, is organizing a Thanksgiving Dinner on November 24th with help from Tank, our VP for Forest Ranch residents...so, if you're not going out of town, consider signing up.

YESTERYEAR... Early History of Berdan's

By Andy Mark

Berdan's was a popular stopping spot during the early years of the Humboldt Wagon Road. It was located about twenty miles out of Chico in the approximate vicinity of today's Cal Fire station along Highway 32, about four miles above Forest Ranch.

An 1865 map reveals that a man named McDonald lived in this general location. In 1867, the news reported that a two-story hotel was kept there by J.C. Wertsbaugher and, in 1868, the news reported that J.N. McCormick took over the hotel. At some time, the property was also known as Hornback's stand.

The Comet Mill, first owned by C.F. Ellsworth and then W.K. Springer, was located nearby. It was known to produce about 18,000 shingles per day.

Myron Berdan purchased the residential property in 1874, most likely from Hornback. In 1876, the news reported that the cold, pure water from an 80 ft. deep well at Berdan's was drawn by horse-power. A post office was established at Berdan's, in 1878, and Myron was the first postmaster. In 1909, the post office was moved one and a quarter mile south. It was discontinued in 1916, when the Forest Ranch post office took over those duties.

In 1875, a rather bizarre murder took place at the abandoned Comet Mill site. James Dorland was killed and shot by a sniper, over a property dispute. Myron Berdan, who lived nearby, assisted in helping George Dorland, the victim's son, determine who the killer was and also testified at the trial.

Milton Cain, who fired the shot that killed James Dorland, went immediately on the run. There were many places in these foothill canyons that a person could hide from the law, especially with friends that would help him out. Figuring that Cain was still in the area, Sheriff Daniels formed a posse to track him down. Taking no chances, however, the lawman went from one cabin to the next, and after interrogating the inhabitants, he made each one of them join the party so that he could keep an eye on them. Cain was eventually caught, and it appears that it was due to the strategy of the Sheriff.

In the 1880's, Berdan's place was a busy stop for teamsters along the Humboldt Wagon Road, and was a popular resort that was newly renovated. Being so close to a number of gold claims, it was also reported that it served as the headquarters for the upper Butte Creek mines.

In 1898, the hotel at Berdan's burned to the ground, and Myron Berdan suffered burns by saving items from the post office. A local newspaper reported a touching story about how the locals wasted no time in coming to the assistance of Mr. and Mrs. Berdan, offering provisions, clothes, cooking utensils, dishes and various conveniences to help them cope during this time of difficulty.

Linda Susan Forrister (Dodge)

It is with heavy hearts that we announce the passing of our beloved Mother, Sister, Grandmother, Aunt and friend, Linda Susan Forrister (Dodge). Linda Sue passed away peacefully in her own beautiful home surrounded by the love and support of her family after a difficult struggle with cancer on September 24th, 2022. She was such a sweet, kind, loving woman and will be greatly missed. The world is a little less sparkly now.

Linda Sue was born in Cherry Point, North Carolina on July 14th, 1955 where her father, Otis Dodge, was stationed in the Marine Corps. They moved back to California when she was very young. She grew up in Forest Ranch at The Dodge Place in the canyon. Her heart always remained a part of the community.

She graduated from Chico High School in 1973 before completing her education at Heald Business College. After that, she married and moved to Alaska for two years where she had her first daughter, Cyndi. They then moved back to Chico, and she had her second daughter, Lesley. She absolutely loved being a mother and her daughters will be forever grateful for the special moments she created in their lives.

She loved all things, pink, ruffly, sparkly and crafty. Linda Sue enjoyed being involved in many things including being a Girl Scout leader, foster parent, Forest Ranch Women's Club member, and taking part of the reunion committee for her high school. She spent 42 years as an insurance adjuster at Farmers Insurance where she gained many fond memories and friendships with coworkers.

She was always passionate about reading and writing.

She was nearly finished writing science fiction book and has been an editor and member of the North State Writers since 2015.

She loved baking, crafting and stamp art with her grandkids and friends. Her craft room was always overflowing with craft supplies, beautiful projects and loving memories.

She loved her time with the ladies she called her Soul Sisters. She enjoyed going on cruises and traveling with them as well as the many hours spent in text and phone calls with them. Family vacations with her daughters as well as trips with extended family were some of her fondest memories. She especially enjoyed when those trips were near the ocean.

She made every holiday special with exquisite decorations and special traditions. Her themed Christmas trees and homemade candies were always amazing. Every Thanksgiving she made some of the best homemade pies. The traditions she made will be passed on through the generations.

Her Celebration of Life will be:

At the Forest Ranch Community Center, 15807 Forest Ranch Road

On Saturday, October 8th at 11:30am.

HELPING YOURSELF AND CO. 24 VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT

In Forest Ranch water for fire suppression is often hard to come by. Many homes have thousands of gallons of water stored in tanks that can't be used by the fire department because they lack the necessary fittings. Property owners involved in building new homes often overlook simple and inexpensive features that can make their domestic water supply extremely functional for fire suppression. Every year in California homes are lost to fire that could easily have been saved if water supply for fire protection had been provided. This article provides information on several aspects of this very important subject.

Rural water systems range from the very simple to the very complex. All systems utilize at least some of the following components: one or more tanks, a pump, water lines, a pressure tank, and of course some type of water source, usually either a well or a spring.

The most common failing of rural domestic water systems is the size of the pipe in the system, typically  $\frac{3}{4}$  inch or 1 inch. If the homeowners have done a great job of clearing and managing vegetation around their home, this system and a garden hose may well be all that is needed to successfully defend the home. It will not be capable of providing adequate water supply to a fire engine attempting to suppress a fire inside the home or to defend the home from a major wildland fire.

From a fire protection standpoint, simpler is definitely better. The ideal rural fire suppression system would be a large tank or a pond located from 100 to 250 feet above the home to be protected with a  $2\frac{1}{2}$  or 3 inch water line running to the site to be protected. The water would be delivered through a  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inch valve with  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inch male National Hose threads. This system would be able to provide well over 250 gallons per minute and would function perfectly with no electricity available. Most of us don't have the ability to provide this perfect system, but there are several ways to either modify or augment existing systems to make them user friendly to the fire department.

GUIDELINES FOR MODIFYING EXISTING SYSTEMS

If your current system can deliver a minimum of 40 to 50 gallons per minute, it can be relatively easily adapted to provide water to the fire department by simply providing a  $1\frac{1}{2}$  or  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inch male National Hose pipe thread fitting in a location that is accessible to a fire engine. Most water tanks can be made accessible to the fire department by doing one of the following:

1. Provide a  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inch male National Hose thread fitting with a valve at the base of the tank IF a fire engine can be positioned within 12 feet of the fitting.
2. If it is not possible to get close enough to the tank, install a  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inch pipe from the tank to a location that the engine can get to and build your fire department connection there.
3. If your tank doesn't have a large enough discharge port and it isn't practical to install one, consider building a siphon by putting a PVC pipe into tank from the top then down the outside of the tank to a valve located approximately one foot above ground level. On the discharge side of the valve, install a 90 degree elbow and finish the fitting with the required  $2\frac{1}{2}$  inch male national hose thread adaptor. The siphon is established by pumping water into the tank through the fire department fitting then closing the valve. Once established, the siphon should take care of itself and can be easily reestablished if necessary. The siphon pipe should be secured to the tank if possible. If it's not possible to secure directly to the tank, set a 4x4 or larger post next to the tank and secure the siphon pipe to it, being careful not to obstruct the discharge fitting or the valve.
